

March 27, 2020 ~Praying for Those Suffering and Critically Ill~

God, our Father in Heaven, hear urgent prayers from the hearts of all your praying children. We come before you, lifting up people in homes, care facilities, urgent care clinics, and hospitals in our cities, our state, our nation, and around our world now suffering and even critically ill from coronavirus infection.

Loving God, we ask that you would bring healing comfort, and peace to the homebound patients resting and anxiously waiting for relief from feverish and aching bodies. We ask that medications they have will relieve the coughing and soreness in their throats. We pray that the viruses in them will not multiply, but rather grow weak and the lungs of the milder case sufferers will remain resistant and strong. Strengthen and boost their immune systems to fight the viruses, and speed the time of recovery. Give all people caring for themselves at home your wisdom and clear direction to seek emergency care, and provide for them a hospital bed and the medical equipment they need.

Compassionate Lord of all the suffering people now receiving constant care in hospitals, clinics, and care facilities. We pray for the discovery of effective treatment and medications that will stop the replication of tiny, genetic viruses no wider than an eyelash in the bodies of the younger and the older patients. Give resistant strength to immune systems struggling to protect both the stronger and the weaker infected people as the multiplying enemy viruses attempt to invade and take control of cells in nose, throat, and especially lung tissue. We pray for your provisions that bring healing, comfort, and peace to all receiving acute medical care.

Merciful and gracious Father, be present in all the hearts, minds and bodies of critically ill patients and in the hands and hearts of medical caregivers fighting day and night to do everything possible to sustain their lives. Use your selfless servants to monitor and know the needs for comfort and pain management. We pray for your supernatural power to make circumstances that seem impossible, possible for the doctors and nurses to accomplish. We ask for both your healing touch and your open arms of eternal life if complete healing can only come in Heaven.

We, the well and unaffected people who pray for the suffering and critically ill, ask that your holy and peaceful presence would calm fearful hearts and all your people here and around the world would feel healing in the love you have for them and for us now and forever.

We lift up the suffering and critically ill in the Precious name of Jesus Christ.
Amen.
